INTRODUCTION

Montana's 1990 Industry/Occupation Projections were produced to provide reliable estimates of occupational demand. For the first time the projections were produced using a matrix based on the Occupational Employment Statistics (OES) survey. Prior to this year the projections were generated using a 1970 census-based matrix. The OES survey-based matrix is more accurate, as well as reliable, because the survey deals with employers rather than with households.

There are three major components to the Occupational Employment Statistics program:

- (1) Survey of nonfarm wage and salary employment;
- (2) Industry/Occupation matrix;
- (3) Projections.

The OES survey involves a periodic mailing of survey forms to nonagricultural employers. This is done in a three year cycle. Different major industries are surveyed each year so that the entire sample is completed each three years.

The matrix is a model representing the occupational staffing patterns of each industry. The staffing patterns are based on the result of the OES survey. An important function of the matrix is that it shows where people work (industries) and what they do (occupations).

The third component of the program is the projections. This is the primary goal of the OES program. There are three elements of the projections: Industry Projections, Occupation Projections, and Job Openings. Job openings are made up of openings due to growth and openings due to separations from the labor force. These three elements make up the three sections of this publication.

The projections show what is likely to happen barring major changes from past trends. The major economic assumptions used by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics have been observed in these projections.

The assumptions are as follows:

- (1) The institutional framework of our economy will not change radically.
- (2) There will be no major events such as a widespread, long-lasting energy shortage or a war which would alter significantly the industrial structure of our economy or the rate of economic growth.
- (3) Current technological, scientific, and social trends, such as values placed on work, education, income and leisure, will continue.

This projection information can help us look into the future with some confidence. It is necessary to match individuals and jobs to decrease unemployment and increase job satisfaction. This would also benefit the business community and taxpayers. Through the use of the information provided, better decisions can be made for the future by having a more realistic knowledge of Montana's employment trends.
